STUDY AT MANCHESTER

POSTGRADUATE COURSES IN OCCUPATIONAL HYGIENE

The University of Manchester offers the largest programme of postgraduate education in occupational hygiene in the United Kingdom, which was successfully established in 1999.

All courses are delivered as part-time, blended learning programmes offering the opportunity for flexible study. The blended learning experience includes online teaching materials, web tutorials and face to face seminars.

Postgraduate Certificate (12 months)

Advanced Diploma (24 months)

MSc (36 months)

These part-time university award-bearing programmes are designed to provide an appreciation of the skills necessary to recognise, evaluate and control hazardous substances in the workplace, encompassing hazards such as chemical, physical (e.g. noise, radiation), biological and ergonomic agents.

Professional Qualifications

These academic qualifications are accredited by the Faculty of Occupational Hygiene (FOH), of the British Occupational Hygiene Society (BOHS).

WHAT OUR STUDENTS SAY ABOUT US:

"The programme exceeded my expectations."

"Blended learning allows me to incorporate the things I learn directly into my job."

"I would definitely recommend this programme to colleagues and friends."

"Studying on this programme has made me more proficient in my job."

"Blended learning allows me to maintain my career while gaining a great academic qualification."

"The face to face elements of the programme are very effective in improving knowledge and understanding – pure distance learning would be very difficult."
